STEP 3: TAKE THE OFFICE MANAGEMENT SPECIALIST TEST

Choose a test date and Pearson VUE test location that is convenient for you to take the test. You will receive your results on the same day you test and the information will also be provided to the U.S. Department of State.

STEP 4: SUBMIT EDUCATION AND MILITARY DOCUMENTATION

If your OMST results qualify, you will be asked via email to submit documentation by a specific deadline that demonstrates your educational achievements and Veteran's Preference documents, if applicable. You must submit your documents by the date indicated to qualify for the Qualifications Evaluation Panel.

STEP 5: QUALIFICATIONS EVALUATION PANEL

Candidate applications with OMST results that qualify and who meet the minimum qualifications articulated in the Vacancy Announcement and confirmed in their emailed documents will move forward to a Qualifications Evaluation Panel (QEP) for further review. QEP members are experienced Foreign Service OMS professionals who will consider and evaluate in more detail your education, skills, abilities, motivation, professional experience, and job history.

STEP 6: TAKE THE OFFICE MANAGEMENT SPECIALIST ASSESSMENT

Candidates whose OMST results qualified, were QEP referred, and whose education, experience and/or military service were verified, will be invited to participate in the Assessment process. The Assessment includes a writing exercise and a structured interview to determine whether candidates demonstrate the Dimensions that are essential to successful performance as an Office Management Specialist. Please note that Assessments are scheduled by candidate cohort at set times throughout the year. While we will communicate with applicants during the process to notify them of the next steps, it may take three to six months from your original application to the Assessment stage.
